DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. In light of applicant's comments filed 04/16/07, the Examiner has withdrawn the lack of unity requirement dated 03/23/07 in favor of the requirement set forth herein.

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 9-12, drawn to a method of making a honeycomb body.

Group II, claim(s) 13-16, drawn to a honeycomb body.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

4. The inventions of Group I and II are directed to a method of making a honeycomb body and a honeycomb body, respectively. The method comprises forming a mixture comprising aggregate particles composed of, e.g., ceramic, water, an organic binder, a pore former and colloidal particles and firing the mixture. The article comprises these components and, thus, these components represent the special technical feature shared by the claims. As discussed below, this special technical feature would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art. As such, this feature does not represent a contribution over the art and, accordingly, the claims lack unity of invention.

5. WO 00/34202 discloses a method of making cordierite honeycomb bodies, and the resulting bodies, comprising forming a mixture containing aggregate particles composed of, e.g., ceramic, water, an organic binder, and colloidal particles and firing the mixture (see examples; page 6, lines 6-20; and page 7, lines 10-15, for instance). WO 00/34202 fails explicitly to teach the inclusion of pore forming agents. USPN 5,069,697 teaches a method of making cordierite honeycomb bodies where, in addition to ceramic particles, an organic binder and water, a pore forming agent, such as graphite, is included in the mixture (see abstract and col. 3, lines 34-42, for example). The mixture is then fired. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a worker in the art to include a pore forming agent in the method of WO 00/34202 in order to control the porosity of the final product, since USPN 5,069,697 teaches that such pore forming agents are conventionally used to prepare cordierite honeycomb bodies.

6. In light of the above, it is the Examiner's position that the technical feature shared by the Group I and II claims of the present application does not represent a contribution over the prior art and, accordingly, a holding of lack of unity of invention is proper.

7. A telephone call was made to Mr. J. Oliff on 07/05/07 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1775

9. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

10. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Timothy M. Speer whose telephone number is 571-272-8385.
